Waterside apartments and cottages to feature in plan

These cottages for 200 houses - 10 per cent of which will be affordable housing

By Lisa Ashworth

DEVELOPMENT plans are under way for 176 houses at Littlemore and will be submitted for approval in the spring.

Cotswold, who purchased the site from the RWS Trust, will be submitting the detailed plans for the site to Oxford City Council after their outline planning permission was granted in March 2016.

Work is due to start in 2017 and complete by 2022.

The plans are in accord with a provision of 10 per cent affordable housing. This will line with Oxford City Council policy.

Cotswold have said the development will feature high quality design and architecture, as well as carefully thought out landscaping, including open spaces, children's play areas and car parking.

The site will also house a "wellness pavilion" and a "community centre". The housing will include waterside apartments, and car canal and village style housing.

The company's plans are also to include a way to manage the local ground at the northern end of the site with a large open space.

The company invited a public exhibition at Littlemore Village Hall on January 14 and 15, allowing residents the chance to view the plans and speak with members of the project team.

They are also encouraging the public

Oxford United saddened over lack of progress on stadium

By George Webb

OXFORD UNITED have been disappointed since October last year, after the supporters club met with Fintin Kassam – the stadium owner – and council officials.

Over the subsequent months, it has met with Mr Kassam for discussion about making the Kassam Stadium community owned and said recent statements by the club's board have left "as a bitter taste that these conversations are not moving helpful progress on to a positive and timely conclusion".

Owen, Mr Kassam and Oxford City Council have been negotiating since October last year.

But Oxford United, who issued a strongly worded response from the club's directors earlier this week, accuse City Council of the slow progress of talks now say "it is now clear that this clearly and positively will not be forthcoming".

The club added: "Using the word, 'not', Owen and also to report that we are only able to present a case and further stadium situation to the board of OUEFC and community in the building, 'not' further meetings with them regarding the stadium".

The club responded to its own statement on Thursday last week, which read: "Last Friday (January 18) we met with Fintin Kassam and Oxford City Council for the latest in our series of meetings aimed at bringing stadium to a head by summer 2013".

"It was a constructive and positive meeting, which enables us to report that we are only able to present a case and further stadium situation to the board of OUEFC and community in the building, 'not' further meetings with them regarding the stadium".

Oxford United returned on Friday: "We recently sought greater clarity over the key issues underpinning the current situation. Oxford City Council agreed to meet with us to discuss the key issues, but it is now clear that transparency and certainty will not be forthcoming".

"There has not only been a refusal of delivering a new and better stadium to the board of OUEFC and the community by the end of the season, but our members would be asked, arguably on the basis of 10 years of times".

"The board will not be satisfied from building on the progress made over the past few years, our chairman has stated significantly in this club, and our commitment to building a sustainable income will not be compromised".

News Bites

Wales stolen

OXFORD: An elderly woman was unhurt after losing her wallet stolen in a very frightening attack.

The 70-year-old was walking down Magdalen Road from the Cowley Road division at 10.30pm on Thursday evening. She was approached by a woman who asked her for change as her wallet had been stolen.

The unresponsive OUEFC gave her some money and continued walking down the road. Moments later she was stopped by the ground by a man who asked her for change. She thought to have been held back.

The woman is described as white, around 5ft 6in tall, in her late 20s and of a medium build. She thought to have been held back.

She believed there were other two or three male offenders who were with her. She thought to have been held back.

Bakery raid

OXFORD: Police are on the hunt for thieves who stole cakes and a cake after raiding their way into an Oxford bakery and cake shop.

The theft took place at Oxford Bakery and Cake Ltd in Little Oxford Road, which was raided after the burglars smashed a glass panel of the front door between 1.30am and 2.00am on Monday last week. Officers will need to make their way to Milton Street, near Milton Crescent and Milton Lane where the bakery was founded into and destroyed.

to provide a block that will be considered the backbone of the plan.

Councillor Dave Clement, who represents Littlemore, said: "They have agreed to make the housing block from the green site which is really positive".

He added: "There are concerns it will be a very solid block. There are many big steps and evidence and the best service from here to Oxford is poor as we have to use the car park". (Oxford) to read the full report, see the full report on the full report.

Thousands protest over Trump ban

E. C. Arnalidou

WEDNESDAY More than 28,000 people in Oxfordshire have put their vote in a petition calling for the end of the Young's estate visit to be blocked.

On Friday last week Mr. Tru signed an executive order suspending travel to the U.S. from seven Muslim majority countries—Syria, Iraq, Iran, Yemen, Somalia, Sudan and Libya. More than 10 million people have crossed nationwide.

Oxford West and Abingdon and Oxford East comprise the highest figures in the region, with more than 10,000 signatures.

The petition reads: "Donald Trump should be allowed to enter the U.S. in his capacity as head of the Government, but he should be invited to make an official visit to become a worthy endorsement in New York City. Done."

On Monday hundreds of protesters staged a protest held at C. Lee Truitt by Oxford Road to Euston, Oxford Museum and Oxford University's John Radcliffe.

But McInerney goes too far. It's not as if Donald Trump is as racist as a political way to create divisions and enrage. This has happened with working-class people who have been in

Plea-sssss-ed to meet you Terri

PUPPLE with sisters at LKS School enjoyed a day to visit her when an animal handling company visited the English school for a sensory learning session.

Students, such as Terri, and even a Year 10 student visited the school for young people aged 11 to 17 with a diagnosis of autism spectrum, and the girls were given a tour of the school and about great engagement and involvement when the school visited.

The visit from LKS and their animals on Tuesday last week was a great success, but the visitors also had a really good time and enjoyed the benefits of the school visit.

The children were able to have a good time with the animals and the teachers that assist them to the children through the chain of command from smaller animals like rabbits and guinea pigs and then to the larger animals like horses and cows and why animals have developed like they have.

Student Terri said, "I really enjoyed it, especially the snake and the snake project so they are animals you don't get to see often and some have the chance to touch."

One boy was a great model, a duck, a cat and a rat were brought out for students to hold and observe before they were able to see a Year 10 student in a special room.

The session then drew the most reaction though was meeting Tom the Giraffe. Another George Jellison, who contacted the school, said, "It was a great way to engage with children to engage with nature as it was such a sensory animal where they could touch and feel the animals which really got them interested. It was a fantastic part of education and therapy."

• Pupils from LKS School enjoyed meeting the animals from Terri, say, Thomas and Ryan meet a cat, a rabbit, a guinea pig and a pig, and a duck, a cat and a rat.

Watchdog calls for openness on NHS plans

By Ben Atkinson

REGULATORS Call for openness on NHS plans for the future of the NHS bodies responsible for the planning and commissioning of health services across the country. The Healthwatch group, which is the national watchdog for the NHS, has called for the NHS to be more open about its plans for the future of the NHS.

The challenge was to be met by the NHS, but we believe that the NHS should be more open about its plans for the future of the NHS. The Healthwatch group, which is the national watchdog for the NHS, has called for the NHS to be more open about its plans for the future of the NHS.

The request was a response to a report from the Healthwatch group, which is the national watchdog for the NHS, has called for the NHS to be more open about its plans for the future of the NHS.

It comes as the NHS is set to present all kinds of commissioning and delivery bodies and continue to work in secret. It added, "It is a very good idea that the NHS is being driven towards a more open and transparent approach to its plans for the future of the NHS."

Neighbours cheered by pub plan for arson site

By Elin Astreidsson

MYSTERY surrounds development plans to resurrect the derelict site that was home to the Jack Russell pub.

The pub on Seabird Road, Marlborough, has been the scene of a long-running saga after it was destroyed in a suspected arson attack in November and subsequently considered for a development of 18 flats on site. Site owners wanted to demolish the building to replace it with a new pub.

The town's first Eborac Folk, owner of Temple's Bar and Kitchen, Corley, approached the owner with a bid to build a pub on the site was met with relief from local residents.

Mick James, Marlborough councillor and campaigner against the proposal to build flats on the site, welcomed the announcement. In January he was campaigning to the area to garner residents' support for the restoration into a new pub.

When the first Eborac Folk, owner of Temple's Bar and Kitchen, Corley, approached the owner with a bid to build a pub on the site was met with relief from local residents.

In response to the news, he said: "I was over the moon." Site he says: "The owner of the Jack Russell has not got in touch with the Temple's Bar and Kitchen owners" and added that he might not go ahead after all as the current owner might have wanted the purchase in go ahead. Mr James added: "I think it is reasonable. It's about not going in to no end."

Before news of the bid in restoring the site into a pub he said: "We would like to see it standing as a pub open to some as possible, I don't feel anyone who opposed that. If the housing development went ahead it would mean taking away a public space of the community." He added: "The three-story building they are proposing doesn't fit in with the area and the amount of parking spaces is horrendous. Part of the strategy about the flooding and emergency situa-

The planning application is pending determination by Oxford City Council.

The pub has stood derelict since it was gutted by fire on January 15, 2015, in October 2015.

Reflecting on the past and creating a safer future

HOLOCAUST Memorial Day was marked with a service in Oxford's Town Hall on Friday with the theme: 'How can life go on after atrocity?'

Dignitaries and local leaders gathered for the occasion which took place commemorated under the name 1944.

The Lord Mayor of Oxford, Councillor Michael Atkin, said: "Holocaust Memorial Day is not only about commemorating what happened and honouring those who died, but also standing with those who survive as this year's theme is: 'How can life go on after atrocity?'

"It is a chance to reflect on and learn from the lessons of the past to influence and create a safer future as well as to ensure that these horrendous crimes are not forgotten or repeated."

Princess Patricia, chair of the Oxford Council of Faiths and member of the Oxford Jewish Community, said: "Holocaust Memorial Day reminds us of the dangers of racism and prejudice across the world."

"It is a reminder that, more than 70 years after the Shoah, the Holocaust, and to acknowledge the ongoing persecution in Cambodia, Bosnia, Rwanda and Darfur."

to educate ourselves.

"I believe that each of us must speak out against racism and prejudice of all levels of our society wherever and whenever we witness them, before they grow into something much worse."

In 2005, the United Nations declared January 27 as an international day to remember the millions of people who have been murdered at what have been referred to as the Holocaust, and to acknowledge persecution in Cambodia, Bosnia, Rwanda and Darfur.

"Chair of the Oxford Council of Faiths and member of the Oxford Jewish Community, Princess Patricia, said: 'Holocaust Memorial Day is not only about commemorating what happened and honouring those who died, but also standing with those who survive as this year's theme is: 'How can life go on after atrocity?'

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9x9 grid with digits so that each column, each row and each of the nine 3x3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions" or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

www.OxfordPropertyBlog.co.uk is hosting a Landlord Seminar

LANDLORDS – How confident are you that you understand the changes to mortgage interest rate relief and WHAT IT WILL MEAN FOR YOU?

If you have any doubts, don't worry!
www.OxfordPropertyBlog.co.uk is hosting a seminar a Landlord Seminar on 2 March 2017.

Featuring expert speakers from Martin & Co, Hedges Lane, Critchleys Chartered Accountants and London & Country Mortgages.

The seminar will ensure you understand the changes to mortgage interest rate relief that is to be phased-in from April 2017. And, you will learn from experts about how to put in place sensible plans to minimise the financial impact on your income.

The Seminar will commence at 10am and finish at 7.30pm at The Oxford Spire Hotel, Abingdon Road, Oxford, OX3 4PS. The event is limited to just 150 places.

This is the first in a series of planned seminars through 2017, and will provide you with easily understood information and the practical steps you can take now to minimise the financial impact to you. Commencing at 10am you will still be home by 4pm, having heard from local experts over 90 minutes.

At the event you will hear from:

Gerry Jackson a Chartered Tax Adviser and Director at Critchleys

Carl Selby a Solicitor and Head of Business Services at Hedges Lane

Olle Sills a Manager at London & Country Mortgages

Bill Cooper Managing Director of Martin & Co Oxford

And, there will be time to pick their brains before, during or after the seminar.

You will be run through the changes to mortgage interest rate relief planned from 5 April 2017 and how they will phase-in progressively over the coming years. Through worked examples, you will know how to assess the impact on you. You will learn about the factors that need to be considered when planning how to off-set the financial impacts of the changes, and we will explore in some detail the pros and cons of setting up a company structure, and the opportunity to re-mortgage given the changes many lenders have implemented since the start of 2017.

THE LAW HAS CHANGED ... DO YOU HAVE THE CORRECT GAS?

We can now offer R1234YF car air-con recharge and service

Is your car 2013 or newer? If so, you will need the correct gas.

As of the 1st September 2013 we are able to offer R1234YF refrigerant re-gassing, or a car air-con recharge as sometimes known at our Wheatley Car Centre Brands.

This gas is compulsory for new cars from 2013 and if it has been around since 2010, although some manufacturers are still reluctant to use this, notably Mercedes who are not happy with the flammable nature of the gas, which in turn means not many companies offer the re-gassing service for cars using R1234YF. But due to the amount of cars we sell we have needed to be able to have this service ready so we can now offer this service to our customers.

A common question is why the old, R134a gas found in most cars today, is being replaced?

It's driven by a combination of concerns as the new gas is more environmentally friendly.

So, for ALL your re-gas and service needs please contact our Wheatley Car Centre Service Department, tel. 01865 874046 apt 2 • www.wheatleycarcentre.co.uk

Hoops clipped by Wings in 4-0 thrashing on the road

By George Welch

OXFORD City center host Mark Jones' debut for his side was ended by a second half capitulation confirmed the Wings to their best home debut on the road this season.

City, who have been a fighting off, were't scored on Saturday's away 4-0 defeat at Woking United by two goals.

After a goalless first 45 minutes, James Johnson scored from a loose ball to put the Wings, who City had lost the opening day of the season, the lead.

But City's morale after a narrow escape after James Johnson's opener as 45 minutes.

Further goals from Danny Williams, Harry Crawford and Robbie Grayson followed to seal City's second defeat since November's 4-0 home loss to what was Justin Murray's last game in charge.

Speaking after the game, Jones praised Woking, but admitted his side were not performing as three, more than enough in the day. He said: "Sometimes you have to take defeat on the chin and accept that, on the day you were beaten by the better side.

"I thought it was an even game for those 45 minutes and we both players a half hour to concentrate on the little details and be more involved on the bench."

"We didn't really have the quality to beat them. Our passing was poor at times, we were hit, away through, and a second through in say three other goals leaders by four goals, I thought the best fear of the GS.

"I don't feel we didn't enjoy enough about going forward - if you look at the whole kit, maybe we didn't really make them 'keeper make a save even though we got into some good positions."

"I thought we were in good positions, I'm glad to have been 'keeper make a save even though we got into some good positions."
